Manner of the Manner = Saying "Please"

... Along with "Mama", "Dada", "ball", and "cookie"

"please" is one of the most important words you learn when you begin talking. It's hard to turn down someone who prefaces of ends a request with the word please. Please is a word that if you are smart - and considerate, which is just as important as being smart -

you will use for the rest of your life

YOU DO

Say "please" consistently. It doesn't matter if you're asking your brother to pass the potatoes, or asking the clerk at the store

to wrap your mother's birthday gift.

YOU DON'T

Treat your family members with less consideration than you do a stranger. And vice versa.

Remember...

"Please" is enough. Saying "pretty please" or "pleeeeeease" is unnecessary and can be annoying.

Answer "Yes, please" if you are asked if you would like something. If not,

Say "No, thank you."

- Interview friends and family, asking them why they trust some people and distrust others. Organize their answers into a summary report.

- Study these verses. Only one speaks positively of trust in another person. Summarize each verse after studying its context. Why do you think this one person is trust worthy?

- start a small journal where you record situations where you were tempted to lie. Record the circumstances, who you were with, and why you were tempted to lie. Find a related Bible verse, copy, and memorize it.

Judges 9:26, Psalm 41:9, Psalm 118:89, Psalm 146:3, Prov. 31:11, Jeremiah 17:5, Jeremiah 46:25, Micah 7:5.

- Are there areas that you are tempted to hide from your parents (i.e., friends, temptations, worries)? Make a list of areas in which you need to be more open and honest with your parents, and talk to them about these subjects.

(Note: It is not necessary to complete all the Character Activities; pick and choose those you are able to do.)

Character Challenge

Honesty... essential in relationships, important in reputations, and valued by most.

Look up and read Prov. 12:22

Lying _____ are an _____ to the Lord, but those who act _____ are his delight.

Look up Prov. 26:18-19

Like a madman who throws _____ arrows, and _____ is the man who _____ his neighbour and says, "I am only _____!"

Look up Psalm 24:3-5

Look up Philippians 4:8

Finally brothers, whatever is _____, whatever is honorable, whatever is _____, whatever is pure, whatever is _____, whatever is commendable, if there is anything _____, if there is anything worthy of praise, thank about these things.

Look up Ephesians 4:25

What should we do, since we are members of one another?

CHARACTER ACTIVITIES

— Ask your parents to tell you stories of when they ~~were~~ chose to be honest or dishonest. Write a story ~~that~~ based on it, if you can.

— Read the stories of Sapphira, Achan, Delilah, Joseph's brothers, Jezebel, Rebecca, Jacob, Gehazi, and other men and women in scripture who were dishonest. Why were they dishonest? What was the result? Design a table to remember what you learn.

— What is the difference between honesty and just saying whatever you think or feel? Look up these verses and discuss them with your parents.

Roverbs 10:19-20, 12:18, 13:3, 15:28, 17:28, 29:11, 29:20, 31:26.
